

The chart displays the estimated parameters for 100 models, ranked by their performance on the 'all' dataset. The parameters are listed on the y-axis, and the x-axis shows the estimated values for each parameter in the 'all' (red) and 'subset' (green) datasets. The 'subset' dataset consistently shows smaller parameter estimates compared to the 'all' dataset, particularly for the top-performing models.

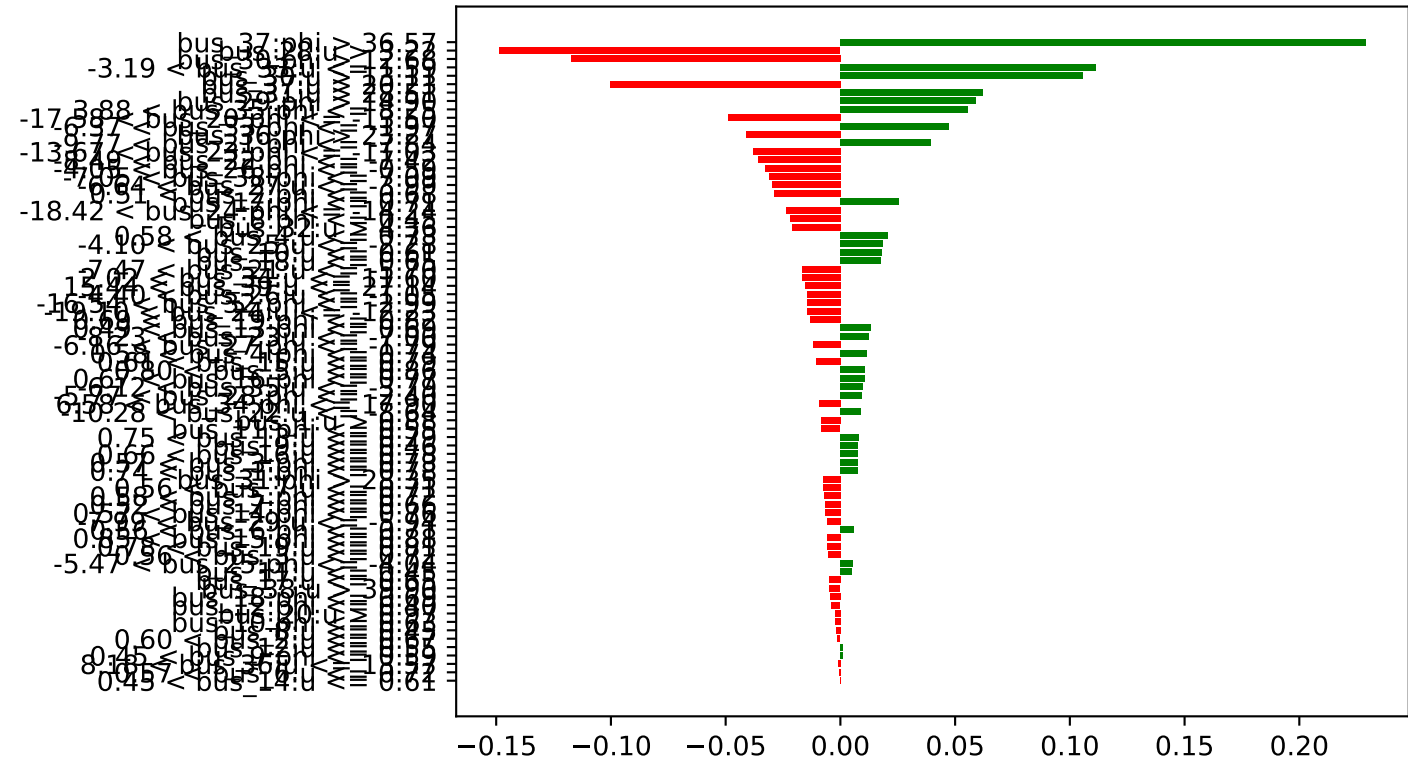

Local explanation for class unstable

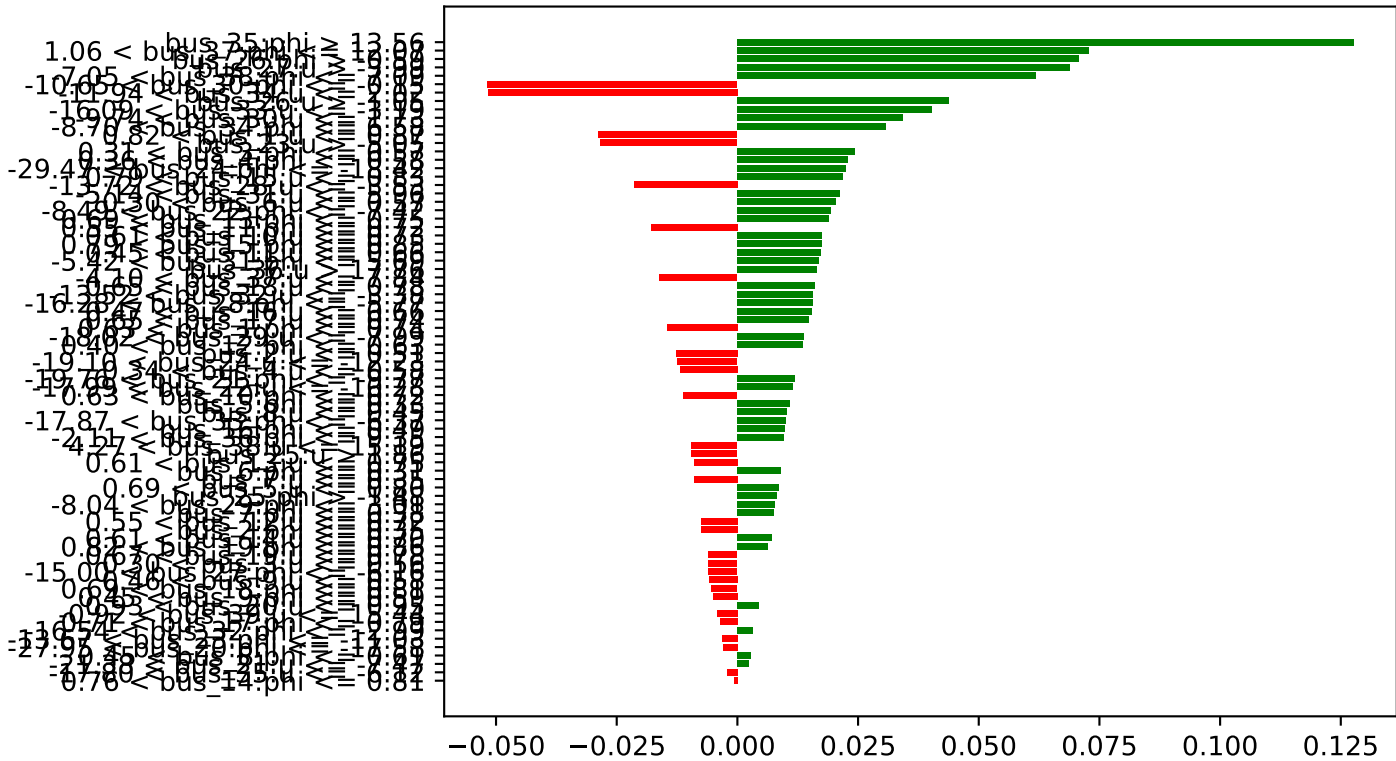

Local explanation for class stable

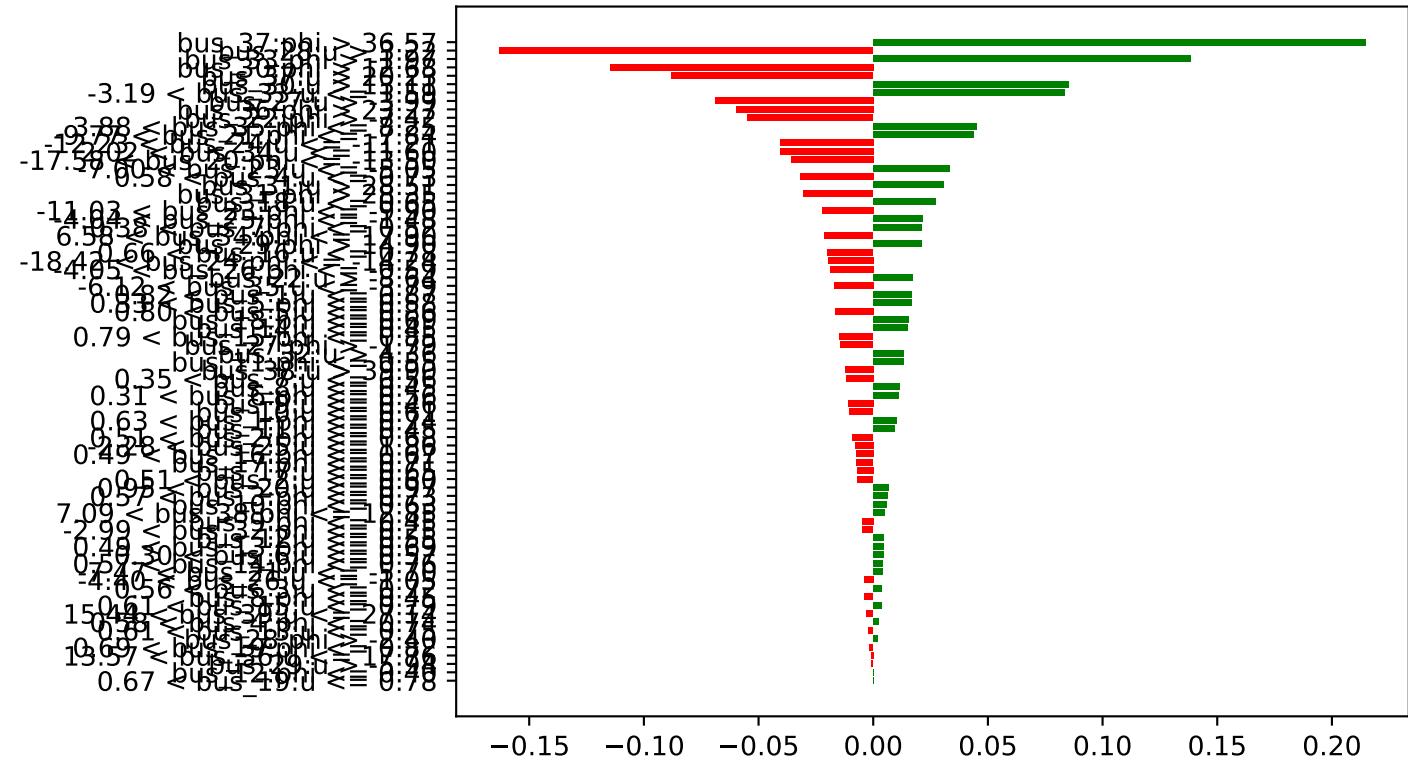

Local explanation for class unstable

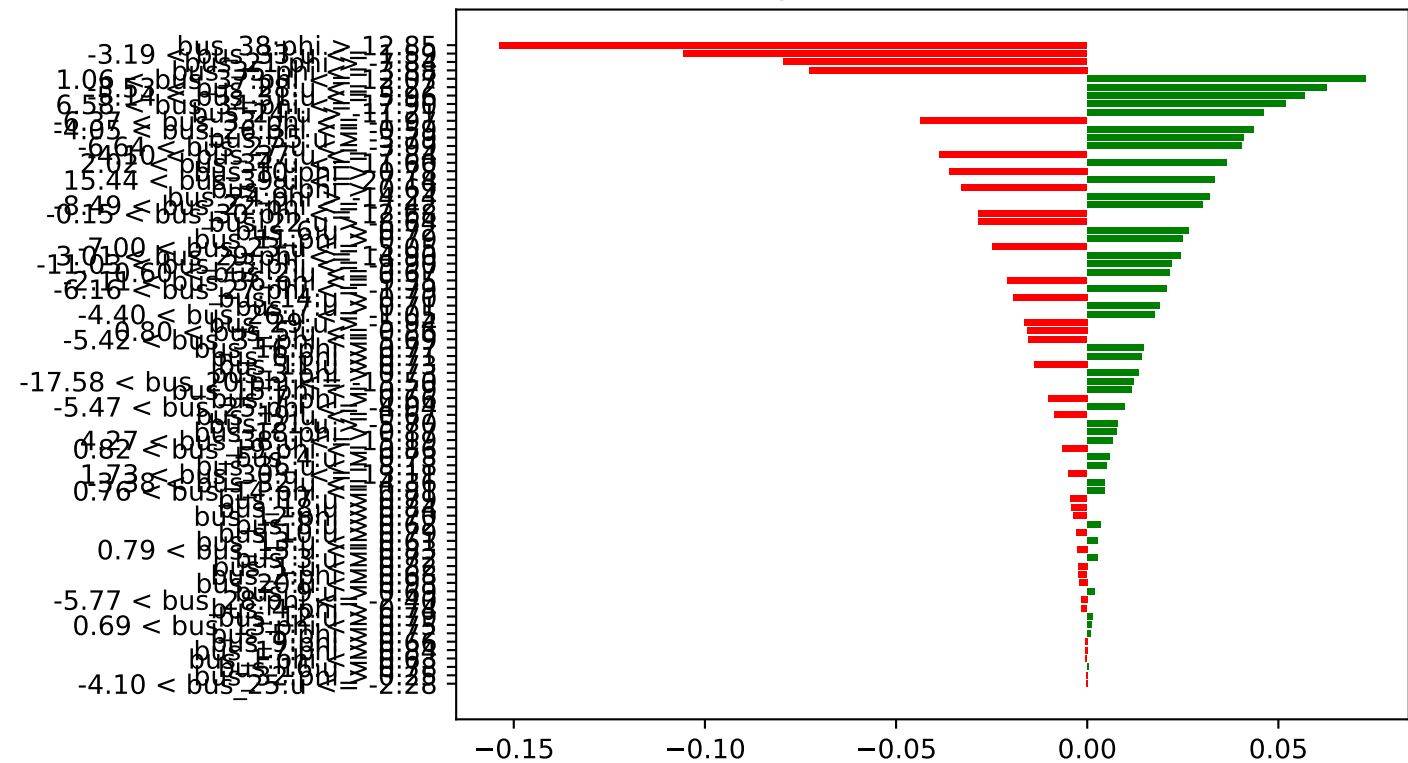

Local explanation for class stable

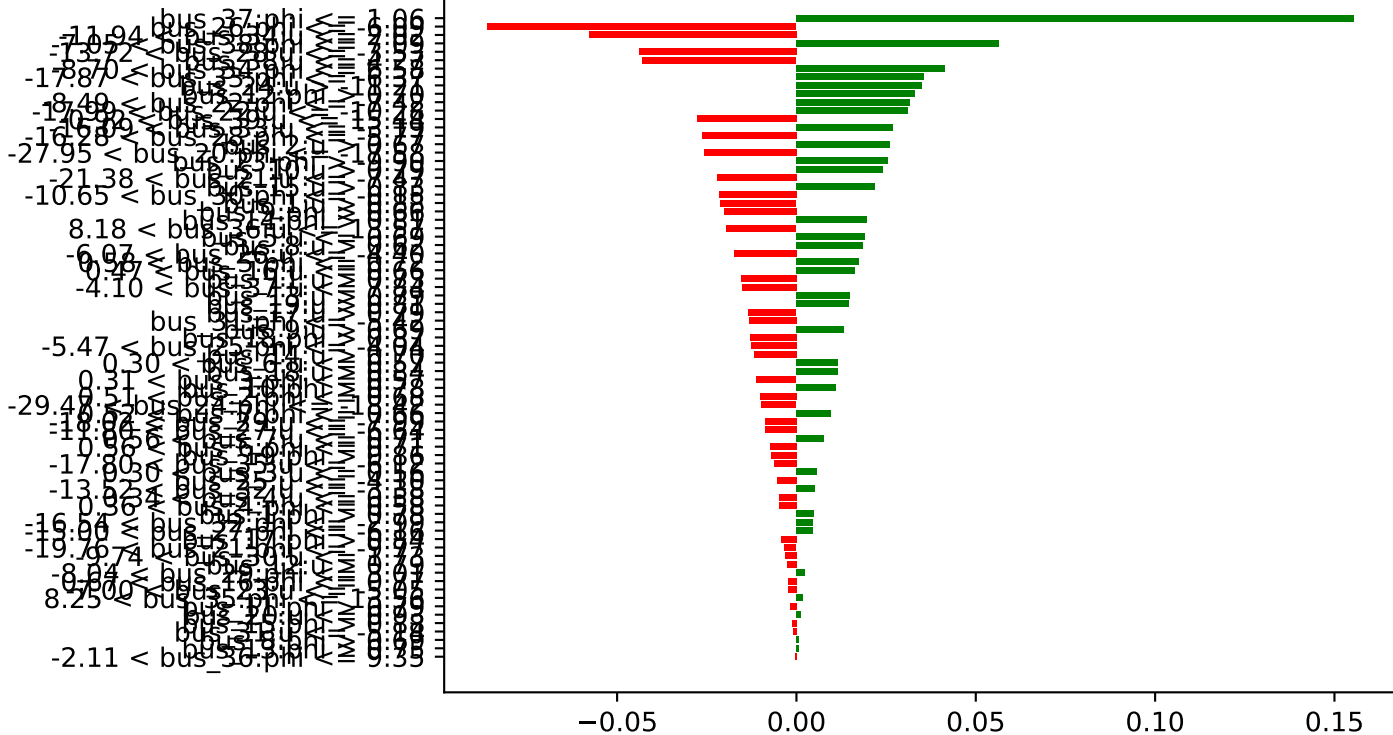

Local explanation for class unstable

Local explanation for class unstable

Local explanation for class stable

